

I want to create a video with Google Flow or something similar. I have the base character image. The name of the character is Aylin. I need to you to generate me the scenes 4-8 seconds what is supported in flow.

The full story: Aylin lives in Stuttgart, Germany (add the mercedes benz logo somewhere). She makes a wish to celebrate her 5th birthday with family and friends and enjoy a lot. Her parents plan it out, she flies to India with joy in an Emirates flight. She loves to wear Adidas tshirt, shoes and dress. Include it in some of her dress ups. Once in India, she gets to celebrate Durga Puja in Bengal which is an additional joy for her. And then end the video with her inviting everyone to join her birthday party on "06.11.2026 at Mankundu, Dighi Gardens from 11:00 am onwards".

Your work: I will start with one cartoon image of 5 year old girl Break this into different scenes that can be generated. Make sure the scenes can be easily connected and stays in flow. Give me all detailed prompts for images that are required to be generated that then can be used in the video. Then give me detailed video prompt, of each scene, details of how the scenes should be generated, camera angles, camera movement and whatever that is relevant.

Ask me any questions if you need to clarify something, and then give me the detailed response.

I want it in a mobile format 9:16

Absolutely—I can turn this into a connected 9:16 vertical cartoon birthday-invitation film, with consistent characters, image-generation prompts, and detailed video prompts for each 4–8-second scene.

Before I build the full scene-by-scene plan, please clarify these points:

1. Please upload Aylin's base cartoon image.

I'll use it to define her face, hairstyle, proportions, and animation style so she remains recognizable throughout.

2. How long would you like the complete video to be?

My recommendation is 80–100 seconds, giving enough time for Stuttgart → birthday wish → parents planning → Emirates journey → Bengal and Durga Puja → birthday invitation. If you prefer something shorter, I can target 45–60 seconds.

3. What language should the narration and Aylin's invitation use?

English, Bengali, Hindi, German, or a combination?

Also, would you prefer:

- Aylin telling the story in a cheerful childlike voice;
- An adult narrator, with Aylin speaking the final invitation; or
- Music and on-screen text, with only the final invitation spoken?

4. How should her parents look?

You can upload references or briefly describe their hairstyles, clothing, and any distinctive features. Otherwise, I'll create simple, consistent cartoon parents who match Aylin's visual style.

5. Please confirm the event details:

Aylin's 5th Birthday

6 November 2026 — interpreting "06.11.2026" as day.month.year

Mankundu, Dighi Gardens

11:00 am onwards

Should the final card preserve your exact wording, or may I format it as:

You're invited to Aylin's 5th Birthday!

6 November 2026

Dighi Gardens, Mankundu

11:00 am onwards

A couple of production choices I recommend:

- Show Durga Puja as an earlier highlight of her India visit, followed by the upcoming November birthday invitation, rather than implying both happen on the same day.
- Include a Mercedes-Benz emblem naturally in the Stuttgart scene, Emirates branding during the journey, and Adidas outfits in selected scenes. Exact logos and the final invitation text are best added or corrected in editing, because generated video can distort lettering.
- Build around 8-second generation units, trimming selected shots to 4–6 seconds where useful. Available clip durations depend on the model and mode in Flow.

Once you reply, I'll provide the character-consistency guide, scene timeline, all required still-image prompts, detailed video prompts with camera movement and transitions, dialogue, and final invitation-card layout. If you have no preferences, just upload the image and say "use your recommended defaults."

2. a video of 1 minute

3. Video should not have any text, except for the last scene of 10 seconds where the address and date is mentioned in English. The video should be such that it explains the idea without any need for texts
4. Put a blurry parents if required in the background.
5. It is correct I agree to your full recommendation in the end.

Film concept: Aylin's Birthday Journey

A 60-second, 9:16 animated film that tells the story visually:

Stuttgart → birthday wish → parents preparing a surprise → Emirates journey → arrival in Bengal → Durga Puja → birthday preparations → invitation.

We'll preserve the charming 3D-cartoon appearance of your reference image. There will be no narration, dialogue, subtitles, or readable text during the first 50 seconds. Music, expressions, gestures, and sound effects will carry the story.

The last 10 seconds will show Aylin welcoming the viewer, with the invitation details in English.

Important production decisions

- Character consistency: Use your uploaded image as Aylin’s identity reference for every image generation.
- Parents: Softly blurred background figures only; no close-ups.
- Branding without text: Use the Mercedes-Benz three-pointed-star emblem, Adidas three-stripe details/emblem without lettering, and Emirates’ recognizable aircraft colors and tail design. Omit brand wordmarks to respect your no-text requirement.
- Durga Puja precedes the birthday: Present it as a highlight of her India visit before moving to birthday preparations.
- Final 10 seconds: Build this from two connected clips of 6 and 4 seconds, rather than asking Flow for a single 10-second generation.
- Clip lengths: Available durations vary by Flow model and mode. Where a requested duration is unavailable, generate a longer supported clip—such as 8 seconds—and trim it.

2. Character and visual consistency

Aylin’s fixed appearance

Use this description throughout:

Aylin is the same five-year-old cartoon girl shown in the supplied reference image. Preserve her warm medium-brown skin, large expressive brown eyes, rounded cheeks, small nose, gentle smile, thick shoulder-length curly black hair with short softly curled bangs, and small gold earrings with pale pink dangling stones. Preserve her exact facial identity and youthful proportions. She must remain five years old, with a child’s natural body proportions, never a teenager or adult.

Outfit continuity

Scenes	Outfit
1–3	Pink Adidas-style T-shirt with a small white emblem without lettering, navy leggings, white sneakers with three pink stripes
4–6	Pink Adidas-style sporty dress with white three-stripe sleeve details, white three-stripe sneakers, small lavender backpack
7	Festive cream-and-red Bengali-inspired dress with subtle gold trim; same earrings and hairstyle
8–10	Pink birthday party dress with a soft tulle skirt and small bow, white sneakers with three pink stripes

Recurring prop: A small lavender suitcase, appearing during packing, departure, and arrival.

Color progression:

Warm peach and pink in Stuttgart → airy blue and white during travel → gold and red at Puja → pink, lavender, and gold for the birthday.

3. Reusable prompt instructions

For each image, use:

Shared image instructions + the scene-specific image prompt.

For each video, use:

Shared video instructions + the scene-specific video prompt.

Shared image instructions

Create a portrait 9:16 still frame for a polished cinematic 3D animated film.

Use the uploaded Aylin image as the primary identity reference. Preserve her features and personality.

Match the reference image's appealing high-quality 3D cartoon style, details, and lighting.

Aylin is the sharpest and most recognizable subject. Any parents or background characters should be less detailed.

All architecture, vehicles, props, and background characters should belong to the same world.

No captions, subtitles, readable signs, letters, numbers, watermarks, or text overlays.

Avoid changing Aylin's face, age, hairstyle, earrings, or skin tone. Avoid altering her personality.

Shared video instructions

Animate the supplied scene image as a continuous cinematic 3D animated shot.

Keep Aylin's identity, facial proportions, hairstyle, outfit, and accessories.

Follow only the actions described for this scene. Keep the background story.

No internal cuts unless specifically requested. No spoken dialogue, lip-synching.

Parents remain softly blurred. Keep Aylin in focus. Avoid shaky camera, smooth transitions.

If generating audio, include only the scene's ambient sounds and effects, no voice acting.

4. Generate the master reference first

Your supplied picture is an excellent face reference, but it does not show her full body. Generate and approve a full-body version before building the scenes.

Image M0 — Full-body Aylin reference

Full-body character reference of Aylin, the exact five-year-old girl from the supplied image. Preserve the uploaded face precisely: large brown eyes, warm medium-brown hair, soft smile. She wears a pink short-sleeve sporty T-shirt with a small white Adidas emblem. Natural five-year-old body proportions, small hands, relaxed arms at her sides. One character only. No character sheet, no multiple views, no text, no additional elements.

Use both the original portrait and approved M0 image as references where your chosen tool supports multiple reference images.

5. Scene-by-scene image and video prompts

Scene 1 — Aylin in Stuttgart

Time: 00:00–00:06

Purpose: Establish her German home, personality, and Mercedes-Benz connection.

Image S1

Aylin stands in the foreground of Stuttgart's Schlossplatz on a pleasant day. She wears her pink sporty T-shirt with a small white Adidas emblem without a logo. A parked silver Mercedes-Benz car appears at the lower-left edge beside the square. Aylin is shown from approximately knees upward, slightly right of center, looking directly at the camera. Warm autumn sunshine, welcoming atmosphere, stylized 3D cartoon city environment.

Video S1

Duration target: 6 seconds.

Use a child-eye-level medium-wide composition with a gentle forward camera movement.

0–2 seconds: Establish Aylin in the square, with the Stuttgart architecture visible in the background.

2–4 seconds: Aylin looks around happily, then turns her eyes toward the camera.

4–6 seconds: She brings her hands loosely together near her chest and looks down at them.

Keep the car stationary. Use only a faint breeze through her curls and the background.

Sound: soft city ambience, a few birds, light breeze.

Transition: Cut from her thoughtful face to a similarly framed face at home.

Scene 2 — The birthday wish

Time: 00:06–00:12

Purpose: Show that she wants to celebrate with people she loves.

No blowing out candles, no speech, and no exaggerated magical effects.

Sound: a delicate sparkling chime over quiet room ambience.

Practical note: If the dream vignette animates poorly, keep it as a mostly static image layer and add a soft glow in editing.

Transition: Cut from her hopeful smile to the suitcase being packed.

Scene 3 — Her parents prepare the surprise

Time: 00:12–00:18

Purpose: Communicate that her parents are making the trip happen.

Transition: Match the lavender suitcase to the same suitcase at the airport.

Scene 4 — The Emirates departure

Time: 00:18–00:24

Purpose: Establish her happy airline journey.

Image S4

Aylin stands inside a modern airport departure lounge beside a tall glass window. She now wears a pink sporty Adidas-style dress with white three-stripe stripes. Outside the window is a large Emirates-liveried passenger aircraft at its gate. Compose the aircraft tail and part of the fuselage prominently behind Aylin. Aylin faces the window in three-quarter profile, with her face still visible.

Video S4

Duration target: 6 seconds.

Use a medium-wide shot from slightly behind and beside Aylin, keeping her in frame.

0–2 seconds: Aylin looks through the glass at the aircraft.

2–4 seconds: She lifts one hand and points toward the plane with an excited expression.

4–6 seconds: She lowers her hand and turns her happy face slightly toward the camera.

Make a subtle lateral camera slide that keeps the aircraft tail visible.

Sound: low airport ambience without intelligible announcements, distant airport sounds.

Brand note: The livery communicates Emirates visually, but without its written name it may not be unmistakable to every viewer. Use an approved livery reference when generating the aircraft.

Transition: Match the bright airport window to the oval airplane window.

Scene 5 — Flying toward India

Time: 00:24–00:30

Purpose: Show her joy in the air.

Image S5

Aylin sits safely buckled into an airplane window seat in a warm beige and pink color palette. She wears the same pink sporty dress with white sleeve stripes as the air hostess. Frame her from the waist upward at a three-quarter angle from the aisle. Aylin gazes out through the window with wide-eyed delight. Her curls and smile are the focus. Soft daylight illuminates her face. No readable seat labels, safety cards, or other text.

Video S5

Duration target: 6 seconds.

Use a slow, very gentle push-in from an aisle-side three-quarter angle.

0–3 seconds: Aylin looks through the window while clouds drift slowly out.

3–5 seconds: She gives her bunny a small hug and turns slightly toward the camera.

5–6 seconds: Hold her happy expression as the light becomes a little warmer.

Keep the wing rigid and the cabin stable. Do not move the camera through the window.

Sound: quiet cabin and engine hum, no announcements or speech.

Transition: Soft dissolve from the sunlit clouds to warm daylight in Bengal.

Scene 6 — A warm welcome in Bengal

Time: 00:30–00:36

Purpose: Show that she has arrived to be with family.

Scene 7 — Durga Puja delight

Time: 00:36–00:44

Purpose: Clearly show the additional joy of celebrating Durga Puja in Bengal.

Image S7

Video S7

Duration target: 8 seconds.

Begin with a medium-wide child-eye-level view showing Aylin and the Durga idol.

0–3 seconds: Aylin looks up at the idol with wide-eyed wonder and a warm smile.

3–5 seconds: She briefly brings her palms together at chest level in a respectful gesture.

5–8 seconds: She lowers her hands and makes a gentle happy side-to-side sway.

The Durga idol must remain completely still. Do not animate, reshape, or move it.

No fireworks, no fire-handling, and no dancing with incense burners.

Sound: festive Bengali dhak percussion, soft crowd ambience without intelligible dialogue.

Important: Approve the idol's appearance in the still image before animating. If needed, keep the tableau as a static background layer.

Transition: Dissolve from warm festival lights to pink-and-gold birthday decorations. This signals a later occasion.

Scene 8 — Birthday preparations

Time: 00:44–00:50

Purpose: Show her wish coming together without suggesting the party has already happened.

Image S8

A welcoming garden birthday venue in Bengal during soft late-morning daylight. Decorations are almost ready: blush-pink and lavender balloons, a few gold streamers. Aylin wears a pink birthday party dress with a soft tulle skirt and small white shoes. She stands beside the cake table, holding a small wrapped gift with both hands. A simple birthday cake has five separate short unlit candles, no numeral candles. Medium-wide portrait composition, warm and inviting, no banners, letters, or text.

Video S8

Duration target: 6 seconds.

Use a medium shot with a slow camera move slightly closer to Aylin.

0–3 seconds: Aylin gently places the small wrapped gift on the table beside the cake.

3–5 seconds: She admires the ready decorations, then turns toward the camera.

5–6 seconds: She gives the viewer a bright, welcoming smile.

Keep the five candles unlit and unchanged. Background parents remain softly out of focus.

Sound: garden birds, subtle wrapping-paper rustle, light balloon movement.

Transition: Cut on her smile to the invitation composition in the same venue and outfit.

Scene 9 — “Come celebrate with me!”

Time: 00:50–00:56

Purpose: A direct, wordless invitation to the viewer.

Do not generate a new independent image. Export the last clean frame of Scene 9, before adding text, and use it as the starting image.

This is the strongest way to avoid a visible change in Aylin's face, pose, or decorations.

Fallback: If continuation produces a noticeable jump, use a four-second freeze-frame of Scene 9's final frame. The continuous music and text will make it feel like an intentional invitation-card ending.

6. Final invitation text

Add this in your editor, not inside Flow:

Aylin's 5th Birthday

06.11.2026

Mankundu, Dighi Gardens

11:00 am onwards

This preserves your requested date and venue wording.

Layout for 1080 × 1920

- Keep the text approximately within $x = 100\text{--}980$.
- Use the upper area, approximately $y = 220\text{--}780$.
- Place Aylin's face safely below the text block.
- Use a clean, friendly font such as Nunito, Poppins, or a similar rounded sans serif.
- Suggested sizes:
 - Heading: 68–78 px
 - Date: 62–70 px
 - Venue: 50–58 px
 - Time: 48–56 px
- Use dark plum or deep burgundy against the pale background.
- If needed, add a subtle translucent ivory panel behind the text.
- Keep the text static and continuously visible for all 10 seconds, across both final clips.

Do not fade the whole film out early; preserve the full reading time.

7. Music and sound direction

Use one continuous instrumental track so the individual generations feel like one film.

Music prompt

Create a 60-second warm, joyful instrumental soundtrack for a child's anniversary. Begin with delicate piano, light pizzicato strings, and a playful hopeful melody. From approximately 18 seconds, make the arrangement airy and adventurous with light woodwinds. At approximately 30 seconds, introduce subtle Bengali folk-inspired rhythmic patterns. Between 36 and 44 seconds, feature celebratory dhak-inspired percussion with a steady beat. From 44 seconds, transition smoothly into a sweet birthday-celebration atmosphere with soft strings. Resolve warmly at 60 seconds, with a gentle sustained final chord during the last 5 seconds. No vocals, lyrics, spoken words, chanting, or recognizable copyrighted melodies.

Keep sound effects quieter than the music. Avoid intelligible airport announcements and background conversations.

8. Recommended generation and editing workflow

1. Generate M0 and approve Aylin's full-body appearance.
2. Generate S1–S9 as still images.
Use the uploaded portrait every time; use earlier approved stills for outfit and location continuity.
3. Check stills carefully before animation:
Face, curls, earrings, outfit, fingers, suitcase color, five candles, brand details, and Durga tableau.
4. Animate one scene at a time.
Use the relevant still as the starting frame and paste the shared video instructions plus the scene prompt.
5. Create S10 from S9's last frame.
6. Trim to the timeline above.
If all generations are 8 seconds, trim the shorter shots rather than speeding them up.
7. Add transitions within the 60-second timeline.
Mostly use clean cuts; use only short dissolves for the journey and time passage.

8. Add the continuous music track and selected sound effects.
9. Overlay the final invitation text from 00:50 to 01:00.
10. Export in 1080 × 1920, 9:16, using one consistent frame rate matching your source clips.

Asset checklist

- 1 master full-body reference
- 9 scene-start images
- 1 extracted continuation frame
- 10 video clips
- 1 continuous instrumental track
- 1 invitation text overlay

The key to making this feel like one connected film is to keep Aylin's face, lavender travel props, pink color theme, and emotional progression consistent—even as the locations and outfits change.
